Latest commentary

The fund reported a total return of -1.95% in August (Source: Financial Express Analytics as at 30th August 2019, total return, sterling, bid-to-bid, net income reinvested, net of ongoing charges and fees).

August was a negative month for equities, as investors grew concerned about an acceleration in Donald Trump's trade war and its impact on global growth. In Sterling price terms, the FTSE 100 fell 5% while the S&P500, MSCI Europe and MSCI Emerging Markets indices fell 1.3%, 1.8% and 4.6% respectively. Nonetheless, all these indices returned very positive year to date total return. Concerns over the escalation and growth slowdown hit the bond market, leading to an "inversion" of the yield curve in US Treasuries – a move that some believe is an indicator of an upcoming recession. Beijing said it would implement 'countermeasures' against any raised tariffs, although Chinese companies continue to source agricultural products such as soya beans from elsewhere.

Central banks globally are now in an easing cycle. The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates at the end of July and the European Central Bank stated that the region's growth and inflation outlooks had deteriorated further which paved the way for policy-easing measures expected at its September meeting. Whilst the Bank of England and Bank of Japan have not formally guided the markets to expect easier policy, they have not stepped in the way of markets anticipating such a move.

The future shape of the UK's relationship with the European Union still remains unclear which has led to a weakening of the pound and gave some support to the FTSE 100. Prime Minister Johnson plans to prorogue parliament ahead of a new Queen's speech, which may be a tactic to try and convince Brussels to reopen the Withdrawal Agreement. Meanwhile Europe's economy is looking particularly weak. The Bundesbank has admitted the German economy may fall into a technical recession.

Although economic growth is expected to slow in most regions, corporate earnings are still forecast to rise by a modest amount this year. Any resolution of the trade dispute and action by central banks would provide support for equity markets but volatility is likely to continue.

We added to the US Treasury 2020, bringing the position in line with our target allocations. We also topped up the iShares GBP Corporate Bond 0-5 years ETF.

The biggest contributors to the fund during the month were Government bonds, Inflation Linked bonds, Infrastructure which posted 2.0%, 1.7% and 2.5% total returns respectively. The detractors from the fund came in North American equities, Asia Pacific ex Japan equities, Emerging Markets equities with total returns of -3.0%, -4.6% and -6.0% respectively.
