

Income 5 Multi Manager

Investment objective and policy

For Professional Advisers Only

These discretionary managed model portfolios offer risk-profiled investment solutions, investing predominantly in actively managed, third party funds. We believe this is an efficient way to access global investment opportunities and the model portfolio is diversified in terms of asset class, region and size of company.

The investment objective for the Multi Manager Income 5 Model Portfolio is to provide a long-term total return which is superior to inflation plus 4% returns. The performance of the model portfolio is not intended to track the rise (or fall) of any specific index.

Latest commentary

Global equity markets pulled back substantially in the last month of the year as concerns continued around rising interest rates, global trade wars, Brexit and mainland European geopolitical issues. Central Banks across the globe are either actively pursuing or beginning to consider more restrictive monetary policy which, added to some weaker economic data releases, has compounded fears that the cycle might be coming towards an end. Traditional safe haven assets, such as gold and long dated bonds, proved resilient in this environment.

In a weak 2018 for Invesco Global Targeted Returns, December proved to be a rare bright spot. Against a weak backdrop for risk assets the fund was able to generate a +0.6% return through its diverse portfolio of strategies across a range of asset classes.

We maintain our conviction in Artemis Global Income (-8.4%), which experienced a softer period of performance, particularly in the second half of the year when it lagged the MSCI World index and its peer group. Manager Jacob de Tusch-Lec retains a relative bias towards Europe and away from the US.

Important Information

Past performance is not a reliable guide to future returns. The value of investments, and the income derived from them, can fall as well as rise and are not guaranteed. Investors might not get back the amount invested.

The Ongoing Charges Figure (OCF) is calculated on a periodic basis using a weighted average of the most recent publicly available OCFs for the underlying investments as at the date of the factsheet. The Indicative Yield is provided for guidance purposes only and is calculated on a periodic basis using a weighted average of the most recent publicly available income yields for the underlying investments. Yields for the underlying funds, and thus for the strategy, are likely to differ in the future. The Indicative Yield does not represent guaranteed income.

Portfolios linked to this Model Portfolio may not exactly replicate the model due to the difference in timing of initial investment or rebalancing differences resulting from minimum transaction size limits on platforms.
